By RANDY FRANK
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Commissioners Shirley Poling of the 11th District and Kay Beard of the 12th District are setting their priorities as they begin work on their new committee assignments.

Wayne County Commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell II recently appointed all the commissioners to serve on the eight committees.

Poling (D-Canton Township) will serve as a member of the County Roads, Airport and Public Services committee and Audit committee. She also serves as chairwoman for the special subcommittee of airport disaster operations and vice chairwoman on the airport noise subcommittee.

Poling was appointed several weeks ago to fill Milt Mack's position.

"As a member of the audit committee, I will be able to see what return we get on our tax dollars," Poling said.

Poling vows to address road and drain improvement issues as she starts work on the airport and public services committee.

"Now, I'm establishing meetings with all mayors and supervisors in the 11th District to know their needs," said Poling.

She is also reviewing county research on drains and water run-off problem areas.

Retention basins at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, for example, will be poured on 200 additional acres as part of the airport expansion. The additional cement may create water run-off.

The 11th District includes Wayne, Van Buren Township, Belleville, Romulus, Sumpter Township, Huron Township, Flat Rock and Rockwood.

For Commissioner Kay

Beard (D-Inkster), 12th District constituents, which include Westland, Inkster and Garden City, will once again see her work on the Health and Human Services and Audit committees.

Because she is a member of the Committee of the Whole, Beard will serve on two subcommittees, Veteran Services and Senior Citizen Services.

On Jan. 22, Beard expects representatives from Ernst and Young accounting firm to give Audit committee members an overview of county finances before the accounting firm starts its county audit.

Health issues, however, continue to be one of Beard's maior concerns.

"With the lack of county funds, and (Gov. John) Engler talking about more cuts, I don't know what will happen to county health care."

She will also continue her work on veterans' issues.

"The federal government has made drastic cuts on veterans' benefits," she said.

"They have also reneged on providing lifetime health care for vets, but we're trying to make changes to provide stronger support for veterans."

Beard will focus on infant mortality in the county, which she considers a growing problem, and health insurance for low-income workers, who currently have little or no insurance benefits.

In the adoption of the most recent county budget, Beard voted to withdraw startup support of a new program which would have provided a type of health maintenance operation for individuals of low income.

Party store victim of 'bomb prank'

By SEAN KELLY
ANP Staff Writer

Garden City Police Chief Roger Wilkes called it "nothing more than a sick joke."

Wilkes was referring to four road flares that were tied together to look like dynamite. The flares were found outside of a Chaldean-American-owned party store in Garden City Sunday.

"We don't know the intent," Wilkes said. "Someone may have accidentally dropped it there or thrown it out there. But we've never had anything like this happen before."

The fake bomb was discovered in a paper bag not more than a foot away from the store. A passer-by pulled into the east parking lot of the store, then walked around to the south end of the store to buy a newspaper.

While returning to his car, he noticed the bag and moved it with his foot. After seeing what was inside, he immediately called police, according to Wilkes.

From 9:45 a.m. to about 11:45 a.m., Ford Road was closed between Inkster and Middle Belt roads, while a bomb squad investigated the matter.

Because the incident may have been an accident, it wasn't clear if the scare was related to the Persian Gulf war. Wilkes warned that people shouldn't take out hostilities on Arabic people in America.

Cory to tackle truancy problem

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

Cory Elementary officials are developing a program to help "at risk" students learn how to increase study skills.

Principal Phyllis Adkins recently received approval for a $59,840 grant from the state board of education to help students stay in school.

"It's called the Operation Graduation School Drop-out Prevention grant," Adkins said. "Last year, we provided a landscaping program and a tutoring program for the students. This year, we'll have much of the same thing."

The drop-out prevention program will be intertwined with the homework club program, according to Adkins. The homework club consists of four components: tutorial, parent involvement, business partnership and expansion and exploration.

"Four days a week we work with the students who may or may not get their homework done," Adkins said. "We'll try and help the students develop study skills by providing a place for them to study, a person to assist them and making sure they go to the library once a week."

The elementary students are also involved with many of the Business Partnerships for Education programs, which includes job shadowing.

Job shadowing allows the students to visit a variety of businesses in the area to find out what career opportunities are available to them, according to Adkins.

"If they enjoy creative writing, for example, the students may go to the high school and work on the computers," Adkins said. "Kids really love computers. I think the tutoring program will absolutely help to develop their skills. This will also help them to get away from the television and use their time more constructively."

The tutoring program is expected to begin at the start of the second semester on Jan. 28. Adkins said Romulus High School Principal Tom Dolan deserves a great deal of credit for assisting with the program and encouraging her to apply for the grant.

"He's been a catalyst for me," Adkins said. "He gave me a great deal of encouragement. We're going to work very closely with the high school."

Committee presents defined objectives

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus District-Wide School Improvement Committee recently presented school board members with defined goals and objectives to improve the educational process for all students in the community.

Tom Dolan, Romulus Senior High School principal, gave a brief overview describing how the committee formed and the grants that were received.

"The concept of the District-Wide Improvement Committee started August 1989," Dolan said. "We all went together to the retreat in Cadillac, Michigan. We came back with grandiose ideas to make improvements."

Last March, the committee received a $50,000 grant. Last August, the committee went on another retreat to Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

"Since September 1990, we have been meeting on a regular basis," Dolan said. "Last November, we received a Section 90 Grant for $70,000. We were one of 27 districts to receive the grant."

Debbie Juriga, Romulus Junior High School teacher, outlined the school improvement concepts for the board.

"If you want to improve student outcome, there are things that need to be looked at in order to improve schools," Juriga said. "Teaching and learning should be a priority in schools. Schools should address not only the quality but the equity."

The middle class is slowly declining, according to Juriga. That means educators have to take a harder look at giving the students a better education, she said.

"School improvement is a process which never ends," Juriga said. "It's a process to get people to work together. We should think of school improvement as an endless journey."

In order for school improvement to be successful, Juriga listed three prerequisites including a common language, responsible structure of teams and time allocated to school improvement.

In order for school improvement to make a big impact on the district, Dolan suggested there should be a radical reorganization in the district.

"I think this is a unique time for us," Dolan said. "With the bond issue approved, we have the technology. What we need is commitment from the board to endorse this program."

Lynne Mossoian, Hale Creek Elementary School principal, and Phyllis Adkins, Cory Elementary School principal, discussed the needs of the committee in order for the school improvement program to work.

"Every teacher and every administrator has seen this document and has endorsed it," Mossoian said. "What we need is an organized way to articulate the curriculum."

"The goal is extremely important," Adkins said. "It's important we develop a method for communication. We need to break down the barriers. We must have parent participation."

A list of specific objectives were presented to the board which included having each school in the district develop a school improvement team, establishing a parent resource room in each building, continuing to increase student assistance programs and reviewing current curriculum and adding more at lower elementary to improve self-esteem of students.

No action was taken by the school board.

Councilmembers asked to support military

Many American servicemen and women in the Persian Gulf have received care packages from friends and family members.

Some soldiers, however, aren't so lucky.

Berkley resident Laura Czarney, founder of Friends of Freedom, would like to make the war situation easier for all American soldiers by sending care packages from around the country.

Czarney recently asked Romulus councilmembers for their support and listed the basic needs of the men and women serving in the Middle East.

"I have a son and a son-in-law on the front line," Czarney told councilmembers and Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally. "They need food stock and toilet tissue."

Her son, Martin Hecox, 22, was shipped to Saudi Arabia last August with the 82nd Airborne Division. He wrote several letters to Czarney asking for cookies for himself and for other soldiers.

"Up to date, we have 36 states involved with Friends of Freedom," Czarney said. "We have 700 names of servicemen and women who need letters. Several of the soldiers come from foster homes."

Czarney asked for a resolution from the councilmembers stating the Romulus residents are behind the troops in the Middle East.

Mayor Pro Tem Randolph Gear suggested residents send baby powder and sunscreen.

"Baby powder can really help," Gear said. "Feet sweat in those boots and in time blisters start to form. Candy is good to send, too, and panty hose."

Councilman Noah Bergeron praised Czarney for her efforts to try and ease the war pains.

"I would like to commend you," Bergeron said. "I have sons that age, and if there is a draft, I'm concerned."

Czarney has gathered a list of soldier needs, including canned fruit, juice packs, Vienna sausage, crackers, hot dog chili sauce, nuts, hard candy, writing paper, AA or nine-volt batteries, gum, toilet paper, moist towelettes, tooth picks, toothbrushes and toothpaste, women's personal needs, band aids, neosporin ointment, cotton swabs, cookies and games.

Anyone interested in participating in Friends of Freedom can contact Czarney at 543-6164.

Trucks, shipping and handling is also needed, according to Czarney.

On Dec. 11, Czarney received a letter of support from President George Bush. The president commended Czarney for her efforts.

"I am heartened by the number of Americans across the country who are taking part in such projects," Bush said. "They serve as a source of strength as we work to enforce United Nations sanctions against Iraq's aggression."

Program receives awards

A handful of Romulus businesses involved with the Partnerships for Education program recently gave the junior high school several awards for continuously trying to open the doors for students to learn outside the classroom.

On Jan. 17, three staff members and principal Jessie Meriweather were presented with certificates by the following businesses:

- Ramada Inn donated two dinner certificates.
- Days Inn donated one overnight stay certificate.
- Courtyard Marriott donated one overnight stay certificate.

The donations were an opportunity for businesses to say "thanks" to the school for doing an outstanding job, according to Partnerships for Education Coordinator Ed Clark.

Education Coordinator Ed Clark.

"This is their way to show support," Clark said. "The schools and businesses continue to work together to make a difference for the students."

About 60 businesses in Romulus are involved with the partnership program, which assists district schools to further education for students from elementary through high school.

"The whole staff spends extra time with the kids," Meriweather said. "We put everyone's name in a hat and pulled four names who would receive the awards. I had no idea my name was chosen."

The teachers and staff of Romulus Junior High School go above and beyond the call of duty, according to Meriweather. Receiving the awards were Meriweather, Judy Frederick, Ann Tripp and Rosemary Nettle.

Clark is trying to get more Romulus businesses involved with helping the various schools. His latest projects include Little Ceasars and Howard Johnsons.

"It's so important to bring schools and businesses together," Clark said.

Calendar conference hearing scheduled for Richard Debs

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Staff Writer

A Jan. 25 calendar conference hearing has been scheduled for Richard Debs, former Ypsilanti United Auto Workers president, before Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Michael Talbot.

Debs, 53, of Westland was arrested last month by Wayne police and charged with criminal sexual conduct after visiting a Wayne home Nov. 6. He was bound over Dec. 17 on four counts of breaking and entering with intent to conduct criminal sexual conduct, criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating a police officer.

On Jan. 25, Talbot will give notice to both attorneys of motion dates the court may want to set which could include a trial date, according to Debs' attorney Jerry Dorsey.

"It depends on the judge really," Dorsey said. "This is a pre-trial conference to set dates for motions."

A bond hearing and calendar conference was staged for Debs Jan. 18.

Wayne Deputy Safety Director John Colligan said Debs, if found guilty, could receive a life sentence for criminal sexual conduct in the first degree.

Debs was recently sentenced to a 46-month prison term for his role in tampering with a union election. He was convicted of violating the Hobbs Act when he attempted to prevent a union member from opposing him in an election.

The former Van Buren Township police commander was sentenced to the 46-month term by U.S. District Court Judge Patrick Duggan. He will also serve a concurrent term for firearm possession.

Debs stood mute during his arraignment before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn A. Archbold Nov. 11 on the criminal sexual conduct charges. A not-guilty plea was entered for him on behalf of the court. A $50,000 cash bond was set.

A co-defendant in the incident, Douglas Olechowski, 19, of Westland was also arrested as part of the Nov. 6 investigation. Olechowski has been charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit criminal sexual conduct and criminal sexual conduct in the first degree.

Olechowski was arraigned Nov. 11 and stood mute. A $50,000 cash bond was set. Debs also faces a weapons charge stemming from a 1989 arrest in Canton Township.

While the task force is still in the process of evaluating the survey results, Daniels said a preliminary review reveals three primary areas of concern in the community including substance availability, parent-Programs will now be developed to address those problems. ing and community awareness of available services.

Opinion

Standing behind our freedom fighters

Support groups, prayer vigils and counseling sessions are all being organized to help bring America through these emotional times of war.

Most are probably stunned by the impact the situation in the Persian Gulf has had on them.

Those who have no relatives or friends serving overseas can still feel the pain and anxiety of those who do have immediate connections.

Associated Newspapers has taken a stand behind one particular local effort to help reassure the service men and women in the Gulf.

We were so impressed by the feeling with which Laura Czareney of Romulus presented her ideas to the Romulus City Council last week that we chose to back her Friends of Freedom campaign.

For every subscription purchased using the coupon received in the mail or the one in the newspaper today, the Associated Newspapers will donate $5 to the Friends of Freedom.

That money will be used to make care packages for representatives of all military services stationed in the Persian Gulf region.

This is our small way of standing behind those who are fighting for American values.

Being hit over and over again

It appears as if the Wayne-Westland Community Schools are on a never-ending path of bad fortune.

The district, facing budget shortfalls, has cut the schools to the bare minimum. The school day was shortened, extra-curricular programs were cut, sports and music programs cost the participants extra money, expressive arts were eliminated and teachers and administrators were added to an already growing layoff list.

Then, the voters turn down a combined ballot question which involved a renewal of an already existing millage and an increase.

To add to the agony, the Wayne-Westland teachers' contract is up for renewal and there is little room for bargaining.

Then the already burdened school district is told by the state that they may not receive their total share of the state-aid package at the time that it is normally received. The new governor, with plans for property-tax relief and school tax cuts, is considering sending only 8 percent of the full amount of state aid to the schools.

It seems, he wants the state fiscal picture to look good for as long as possible.

As as if all this was not enough, Westland Mayor Robert Thomas speaks out against a millage increase for the schools - should the issue be placed on the ballot again.

He made the statement during his first state of the city address - maybe he was nervous and mis-spoke. Well, that is not the case for when he was asked a second time, he continued to stand by his decision not to support a ballot proposal which does not exist.

He took such action without talking with school officials to determine their exact status financially, and without warning them of his feelings.

Making the statement at that time was wrong. The mayor had no substantial information to support his stand, and he provided no warning to the leaders of the district which educates the children of his constituents.

Chamber thanks supporters

Canton Chamber of Commerce members would like to thank the Canton Community Auction donors and sponsors for the successful Canton Chamber of Commerce Dinner Auction Jan. 12 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The attendees enjoyed a delicious gourmet buffet prepared by Fellows Creek and entertainment by a caricature artist and handwriting analyst.

The Chamber netted $8,000 through the efforts of a busy Auction Committee, the expertise of auctioneers Fred Laymen and Carl Gunderson and the generosity of the bidders. The proceeds will be used for future Chamber activities and scholarships.

We would especially like to thank the sponsors: American Educational & Financial Services, American Yazaki, Arnoldt Williams Music Inc., Basic Electric & Telephone Co., Beautification Committee, Benjamin's Ltd., Better Built Fence, Bruce Patterson, Canton Waste Recycling, Canton Trophy, The Community Crier, Community Federal Credit Union, Decorating Den, Don Massey Cadillac, Dr. Tom Gerou, Draw-Tite, Edwards Glass, Fairfield Inn, Fairway Club Apartments, Fellows Creek

Postal rates are disputed

I am writing to you since I do believe that your newspaper covering the suburbs is truly interested in the voices of the readers. I wish that you make my view known since I do believe I echo the feelings of many, many of your readers.

In the last few weeks I have received numerous pieces of mail in which funds are being solicited by some organization. I also have noted the price of postage paid. Having worked with many organizations in my life, I know that whenever we had mailings we always had to pay the full first class postal rate. I am aware through a bulk mailing there is a slight reduction in the cost of mailing.

Particularly, I received a 15/18" envelope from an organization in Washington, D.C. with a letterhead of U.S. Constitution. In the envelope was enclosed a copy of the Constitution, a solicitation form, and a two page letter. All of this was mailed to me for .08¢. Another with a letterhead called U.S. English, signed by S.I. Hayakawa, also from Washington, D.C. was soliciting funds and was sent for 7.6¢ postage and contained four pieces of paper.

I urge you to publish my letter and I highly recommend that every that can read your paper and knows how to write to spend .25¢ and write to the U.S. Postmaster General at 475 L'Enfant Plaza S.W., Washington, DC 20260 and tell him that if the rest of us pay .25¢ for a letter, then any organization (legitimate or not) should pay the same rate.

I resent that the Postmaster General is even suggesting raising our postal rates and then makes special rates for those that choose to solicit monies by mail. Let's speak out and tell him it is unfair. Thank you.

Anne M. Evans
Westland

Legislators continue to accept pay hikes

At a time when cities, counties and states are crying "Budget Cuts", I find it deplorable for representatives of the people to give themselves a pay increase.

Have you any idea the number of citizens that have no medical insurance, can't afford nutritional meals, have no home, etc. Senior citizens barely survive on their monthly pensions. I personally know of seniors that are ill but can't see a doctor because of no insurance.

I sincerely hope you find it in your heart to vote down these increases. If you must have your raise, I trust you will make sure no programs for seniors are cut.

Huron hammers Carlson

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

New Boston Huron continues to be the Cinderella team in its conference.

And the Chiefs' basketball fans hope they never hear the last stroke of midnight.

Huron did it again last night.

With Matt Holtan's wizardry and shooting touch, the once-conference doormat stepped all over Carlson and cleaned up with a 70-57 victory.

That was the Chiefs' fifth conference win in seven starts. May not mean much to many fans, but the 5-2 record is the best in recent memory. In 1972, the Chiefs went 20-2.

"We're happy for these kids," Huron Coach Terry Suemnick said. "I feel this team can play with just about any team."

Holtan, a 6-5 junior forward, tossed in 10 of his game-high 30 points to stake the Chiefs to a 19-9 first-period lead. However, Carlson didn't cave in. The Marauders came back and outscored Huron 20-16 in the next period and closed the gap to 35-29 before the intermission.

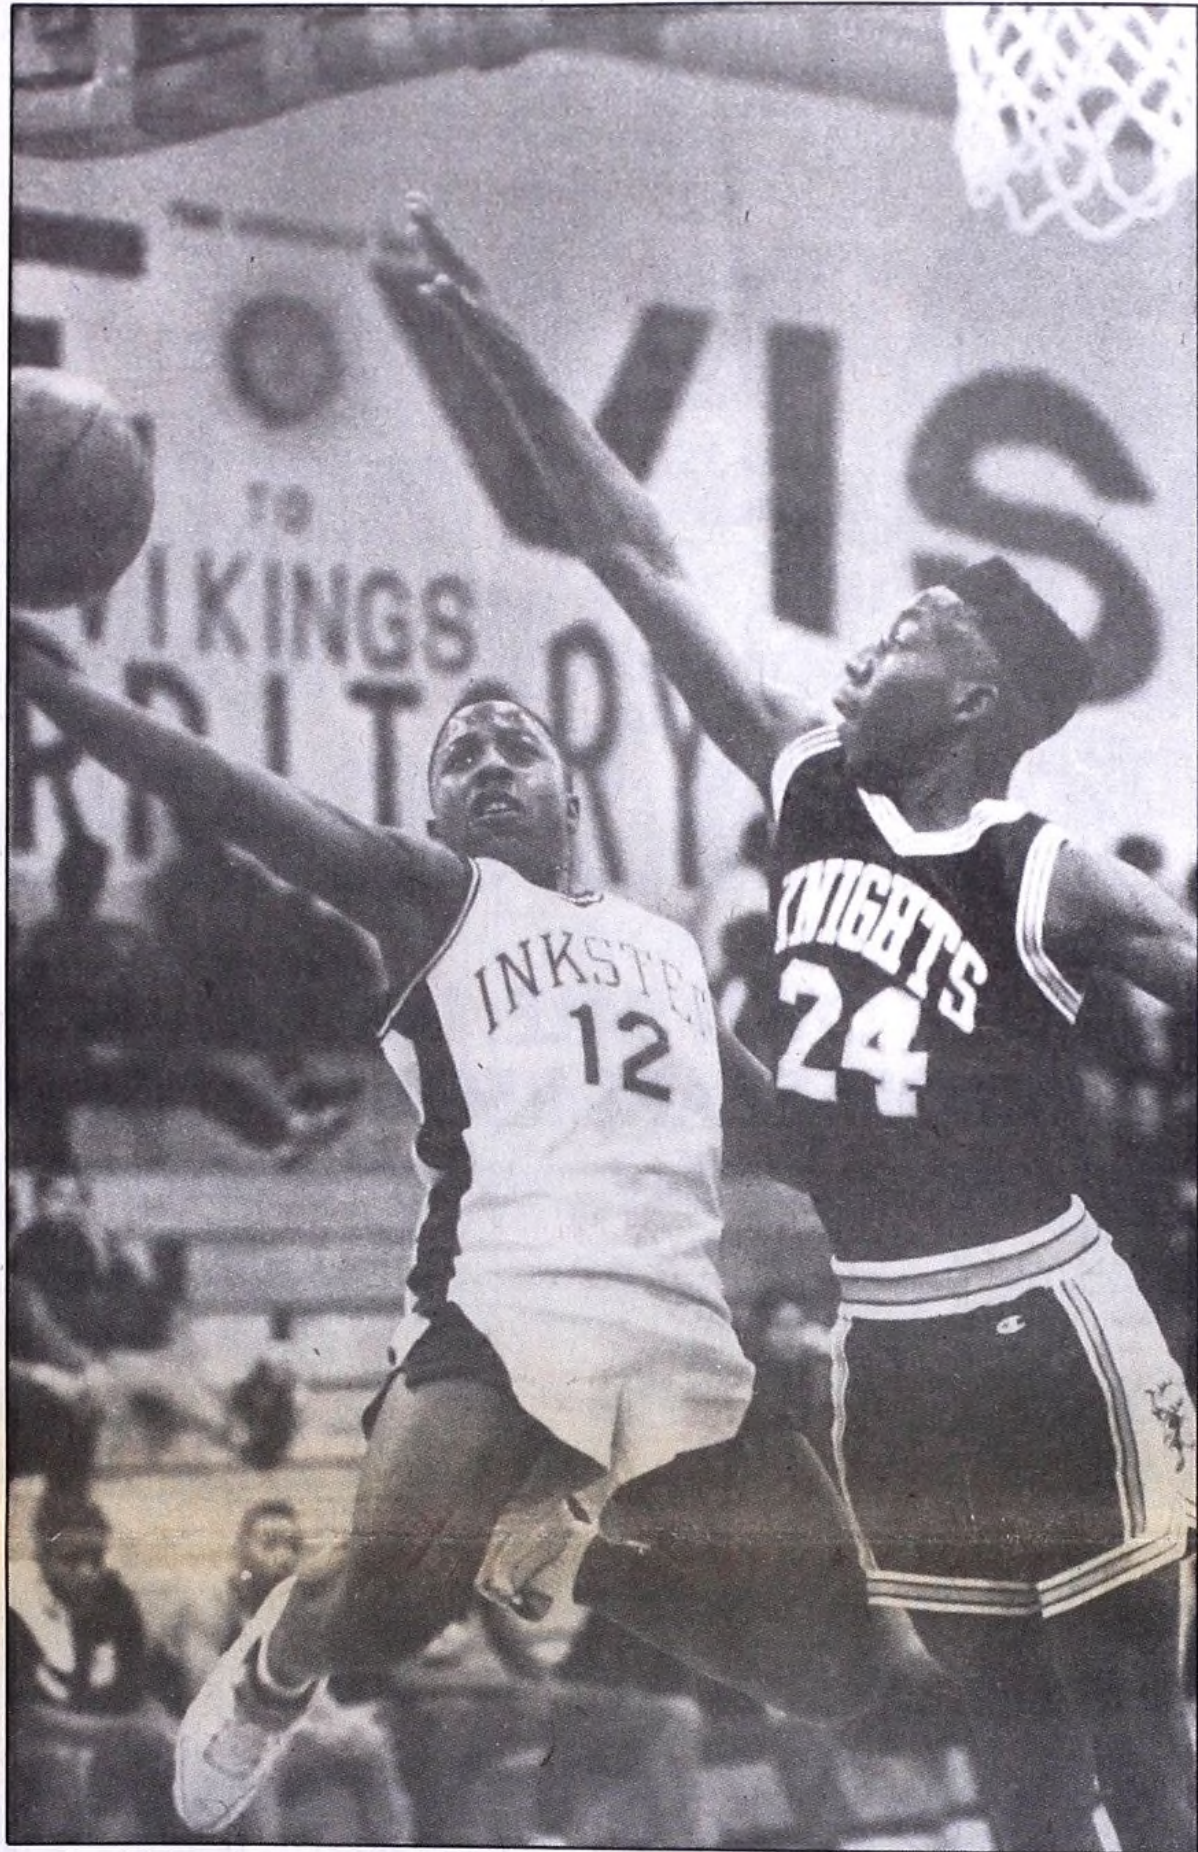

Carlson overcame its deficit early in the third period and managed to grab a 49-47 lead as the two teams prepare to play the final eight minutes.

Carlson, however, could not stop Holtan and when they tried to double team him, center Jason Hall and Larry Reese took up the scoring slack for the Chiefs. Huron overpowered its league rivals with a lopsided 23-8 fourth quarter.

Hall contributed 18 points and Reese scored 17.

"I am pleased at the way we executed, especially in the first and fourth periods," Suemnick said. "Also they had no one who could really match up with Holtan. I felt he played an exceptional game tonight."

The Chiefs began the second round of conference competition Friday night against a team they beat in overtime the first time around. Huron will have the home-court advantage for the rematch.

So close Inkster blows lead, falls to Buena Vista 63-56

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

For three periods, Inkster pounded state-ranked Saginaw Buena Vista mercilessly.

Then, the adrenaline stopped, and Coach George Thompson's Vikings failed to convert three consecutive one-and-one free throws, settling for five points in the final period.

The cold spell put Inkster on the losing end of a 63-56 decision.

"When it counted, we just couldn't convert those free throws," said Thompson, whose Vikings canned 14-of-19 charities for the evening. "It's heartbreaking to lose this one because we led right down to the last few minutes."

The loss dropped the Vikings' record to 5-6 on the season. However, their 4-1 mark gives them a share of the Suburban Athletic Conference lead with Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Highland Park and Oak Park.

But there will be co-leaders after SAC encounters Friday: Inkster will host Highland Park, while Coach Ron Tarrant and his Bulldogs will travel to Oak Park.

"This should be a very interesting week for all of us," Thompson said.

Inkster made it interesting for Saginaw Tuesday night. The Vikings jumped out to a 19-13 first-period lead on the strength of Carlos Johnson's heroics. Johnson led the hoopla with six of his team-high 15 points.

Saginaw, ranked third in the Class B state rankings last week, showed why. The duo of Shawn Jackson and Duane Simon provided the scoring power. Although they trailed 36-31 at the half, Buena Vista made up the difference with a 18-13 scoring advantage in the third period, then cut loose with a seven-point run early in the fourth period to take the lead.

Jackson finished with a game-high 24 points, and Simon chipped in 19 for the winners, who cashed in on 16-of-20 free throws.

Johnson was the only Viking to reach double figures. Team-mate Claude McReynolds, who had been averaging 20 points per game, had his problems as he finished far below his average. He had seven.

"That fourth quarter was probably the worst I've seen from our boys. I hope they got it out of their system because we surely can't afford a repeat against Highland Park," Thompson said.

3 area coaches handed awards

By SEAN KELLY
ANP Staff Writer

The 1990 Michigan high school football season is over.

But it hasn't been forgotten by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association, who recently rewarded the accomplishments of three area coaches.

Bob Khoenle of Plymouth Canton and Chuck Gordon of Westland John Glenn were each named Coach of the Year for Region 2 in Class AA by the MHSFCA.

Robert Yauck, coach of the Dearborn Heights Robichaud football team, was named Coach of the Year for Region 4, and for all of Class B as well.

Khoenle coached the Chiefs to a 9-2 record this year and a berth in the playoffs.

Canton faced Glenn in the first round of the playoffs, and defeated the Rockets 22-16.

The Chiefs only regular-season loss this year was to perennial powerhouse Farmington Harrison 21-15.

Khoenle was able to rally his players after the early season defeat to the second round of the playoffs where their season was ended by eventual state champion Redford Catholic Central 35-22.

Gordon's Rocket squad finished 1990 at 8-2. Like Canton, its only regular-season defeat was to Harrison 29-0.

Gordon had his Rockets ranked in the Top 10 for part of the season, and Glenn was the highest seeded team in its region heading into the playoffs.

Yauck, the dean of area coaches, guided the Bulldogs to their first Class B state championship, thanks to an impressive 21-7 victory over Kingsford in the Pontiac Silverdome.

A strict disciplinarian who has won a handful of Suburban Athletic Conference titles during the past 10 years, Yauck completed his 20th year as head coach at Robichaud High.

He also had Tyrone Wheatley in his lineup for the past four years.

Wheatley, an all-state track star, is considered the finest all-around athlete Michigan has ever produced.

The 6-2, 210-pound senior set all sorts of records and was named the No. 1 prep football player in the state for the 1990 season.

Bob Khoenle, Robert Yauck and Chuck Gordon were among those high school coaches statewide receiving awards from the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

Late rally falls short for John Glenn

By SEAN KELLY
ANP Staff Writer

John Glenn Coach Pat Bennett couldn't bear to look at the scoreboard after the first period Tuesday night. And for good reason. After only one quarter, the scoreboard read: Farmington Harrison 26, John Glenn 9.

It looked like a long night.

But the Rockets stormed back behind the strong play of Kevin Champion and Jackie Howard to pull within four points of Harrison in the fourth quarter. Harrison, however, kept its poise by hitting key free throws down the stretch and escaped with a 76-66 victory.

"(Harrison) hit almost everything at the free throw line in that last quarter," said Glenn Coach Pat Bennett, who saw his team sink to 2-7 overall and 1-4 in the league.

Indeed, the game may have been decided at the free throw line where Harrison made 23-of-33 (15-of-22 in the fourth quarter), while Glenn connected on just 9-of-22.

Harrison inched its lead to 40-

21 going into halftime and then upped it to 53-33 heading into the final period. That's when Champion and Howard went to work. The two accounted for 17 points in the fourth quarter, as Glenn nearly pulled off a tremendous comeback.

But on this night the story was simple, the Rockets had dug too big a hole for themselves.

"We had poor shot selection in the first half," said Bennett, "and that caused us problems. But I thought our defense played strong after the first quarter."

Glenn was led by Gamal Ahmed's 21 points, while Howard added 17 and Champion scored nine, all in the fourth quarter.

Swimmers lose to Edsel

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A well-rested and ambitious Edsel Ford swim team overpowered visiting Belleville 58-35 during a non-conference dual swim meet Tuesday night.

The loss snapped a three-meet winning streak for Belleville.

"It was a good swim for our kids," said Belleville Coach Frank Vicchy, who takes his club up against Southgate Anderson tonight in a Wolverine 'A' Conference meeting.

"We bettered our times against (Edsel), and that's all I am looking for at this time."

Belleville failed to win a relay event, one of the major reasons for the Tigers' demise.

However, they came away with four event winners.

Senior Trevor Yeary continued to impress as he led the pack to the wall in the 200-yard individual medley.

Yeary's winning time was posted as 2:12.18.

Belleville diver Sean Garland surfaced with a victory as he piled up 202.60 points.

The only other two Tiger wins came off the performances of Brian Cantrell, who covered the 100-yard backstroke in 1:00.9 and Brent Held, who touched in first for the 100-yard breaststroke (1:08.83).

The Tigers are sporting a 3-1 conference record and a 3-3 overall record heading into the Southgate meet.

Changes in eating habits key to weight loss

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Diet is a four-letter word, and the very mention of it tends to stir negative images. After all, we all know what the first three letters of the word spells.

"We rather approach weight control or weight loss with healthy food planning and meal changes rather than dieting," said Zonya Foco, a registered dietitian and clinical nutritionist for the Catherine McAuley Health System.

Foco noted that many so-called diets are not true weight-loss plans because they only result in temporary weight loss. She noted that a type of liquid formula gained popularity when a television talk show hostess lost more than 60 pounds. However, when the woman gained much of her weight back, interest in the liquid formula, understandably, dropped.

"No diet is effective if it doesn't result in long-term loss," Foco said. "That is why dietitians approach weight loss by changing eating habits - by substituting good habits for bad ones."

An assessment of the types of food that one eats is made on the first visit to a dietitian, according to Foco. Then, realistic goals are set, and the reasons that prompted the individual to overeat are studied.

"Many people eat when they are bored, stressed or tired. They need to find ways to reduce tension and stress instead of eating. They also must learn to do alternative things when they are bored or tired," the dietitian said. "Whenever, an individual finds himself eating something he shouldn't, he needs to consciously stop and think about it, and then think of an alternative."

Foco emphasized that people must be realistic in their goals. For example, the body frame of an individual may not allow a svelte appearance even if food intake is reduced. She also noted that a job switch or a change in life style may result in less physical activity and, consequently, some weight gain. This could be addressed with a combination of better eating habits and some simple exercise.

Healthy changes in food intake and simple exercises are the key to maintaining an ideal weight, Foco said. For example, just walking one day a week is a good start if one has not exercised before.

"Consumers need to become more aware of what they are purchasing, both in restaurants and grocery stores. Two very similar products may be far apart when it comes to fat content - an important factor in weight gain," Foco said. "For example, a chicken sandwich at one fast-food restaurant contains 42 grams of fat, while a similar product at another restaurant has only 10 grams of fat. When you become aware that a complete lunch should not contain more than 15 grams of fat, it becomes obvious that the choice of restaurant food can make or break a healthy eating plan."

Foco suggested that consumers check the posted nutrition charts or ask for nutrition pamphlets at their favorite fast-food restaurants. In addition, consumers should be careful of their purchases in the supermarkets because many of the so-called convenience foods are very high in fat content.

"Some people think that they are cooking in a healthy manner when they use a slow cooker. However, if they don't trim the fat from the meat before cooking, their meat and vegetables will soak up the fat, and defeat their attempt to prepare a healthy meal," Foco said.

"While lunches and dinners are important, a balanced breakfast is the key to good nutrition. A bowl of cereal with skimmed milk and a piece of fruit would be a good breakfast," Foco said. "You could add a bit of walnuts or almonds to the cereal for a well-rounded breakfast, but don't settle for just a piece of fruit or a sweet roll or bagel."

Breakfast is the meal that fires up the metabolism and starts the burning of calories, the nutritionist said. It's not wise to let the calorie-burner sleep while the rest of the body is awake and consuming more calories.

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton proved why they are considered the top two gymnastic squads in the state Saturday.

The Rocks finished ahead of 16 teams at the Troy Athens Invitational, racking up 142.25 points. Canton finished second with a score of 135.15.

Canton Coach John Cunningham was pleased with his girls' performance.

"We had a comfortable meet," Cunningham said. "Salem was comfortably in front of us by seven points and we were in front of the third-place team (Rochester Adams) by four points. We didn't have anything spectacular, but we did show improvement."

Machine a lift for patients

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

For years now, doctors could only guess the amount of weight a patient could lift following rehabilitation.

Not anymore.

At least not at RehabWest in Westland, where guess work has become a thing of the past.

That's because the three full-time physical therapists at RehabWest, opened last July, use the Lido Lift machine made by the California-based Loredan Inc.

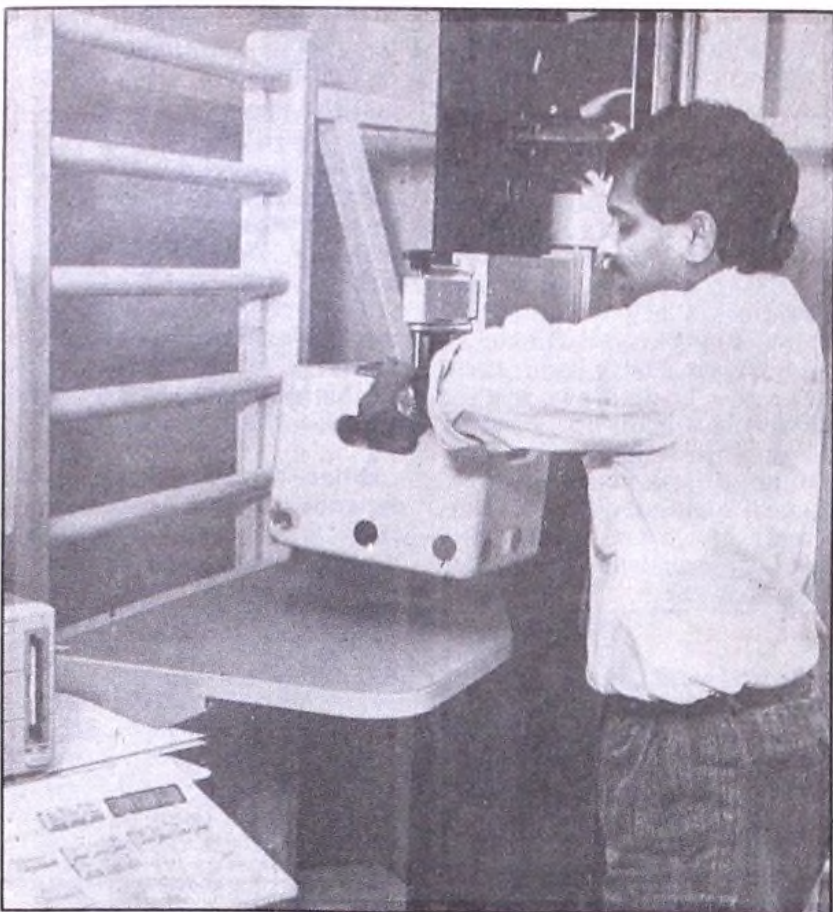

The computerized analysis machine, the first of its kind in Michigan, simulates lifting, and allows the therapists to evaluate a patient's strength and lifting capability.

Lido Lift also offers isokinetic and isometric testing involved in real-life lifting situations such as the ability to lift an object or lower an object.

"The Lido Lift exactly measures the maximum amount of weight a person can lift, and also makes recommendations of how much weight and repetitions of weight a person can lift during the day. It's an exact way to determine someone's abilities," said Wendy Grunder, acting director and a physical therapist at RehabWest. "So instead of a doctor saying, 'Oh, I think he can lift about 35 pounds,' the machine tells the person functionally how much he can do."

Another benefit of the machine is it allows the freedom of motion in three dimensions. It also tracks and rerecords all three dimensions of movement, allowing analysis of postural technique and asymmetries.

Grunder said the machine, which was bought at a price tag of $65,000, is especially effective for employees on disability leave. She said the best part is it gives complete instructions for employers as to the maximum weight the returning employee can lift and the employee's full range of motions.

"This is the most objective data a person can have about his functions," Grunder said. "Doctors have told us they are excited about this machine because of its exactness."

RehabWest, located on 36301 Warren Road, has 7,000 square feet of space, including 2,000 square feet of gym space.

Fitness craze still a kick

By THEODORE G. COUTILISH
ANP News Editor

The fitness craze isn't as strong as it was in the 1980s, but it's a long way from extinction, say area fitness experts.

"It certainly isn't as big as it was a couple of years ago, but clearly fitness is still very popular and people are very much interested in staying fit," said Kathy Connelly, manager of Rebound Health and Racquet Club in Van Buren Township.

There are even some signs that, while the overall numbers are down, people are becoming more conscientious and more intelligent about participating in an exercise program.

"People are smarter now about exercise than ever before," said Barbara Mitchell, co-owner of Slender You Beauty and Body Salon in Wayne. "They know what questions to ask. Before they just came in and exercised. Now they want to know what specific exercises they need to work with, how it affects their body and what benefits they will get from it."

"Another thing is you see more people exercising because they want to exercise. They don't say, 'Oh, God. I have to go exercise.' They enjoy exercising, and the people they do it with."

Before beginning an exercise program, fitness experts recommend consulting a physician.

Other tips include:

- Light stretching before beginning any exercise or physical activity such as basketball or weight lifting. Also, stretch carefully after every workout to clear the muscles of lactic acid buildup, which causes stiffness.
- Diet sensibly along with the exercise program.
- For cardiovascular fitness, exercise every other day for more than one hour at a heart rate of 70 percent. For weight loss, exercise every other day for about 30 minutes at 60 percent heart rate.
- Wear proper shoes that will absorb the shock of constant bouncing and sudden movements.
- Do aerobics on light wood floors or floors that are not hard like cement or concrete.

One way to beat the exercise monotony, yet still receive all of the benefits from exercise is taking up sports such as racquetball and wallyball.

Not only are they fun, but they are also a great way to enjoy an evening with friends and associates.

"You have so much fun at wallyball and racquetball that you forget you're really working out," Connelly said. "They are excellent forms of exercise."

"People are very interested in exercise programs at this time of the year," Mitchell said. "People want to lose weight they gained during the holidays, and they are thinking about summer. So now is the perfect time to begin an exercise program tailored to the individual's own needs."

STYES

A sty is a red lump or swelling on the edge of the eyelid. This is caused by infection of a gland at the root of an eyelash. Some people seem to be more susceptible to styes and may have this annoying, sometimes painful condition recurrently.

Usually a sty will resolve by using warm compresses, although sometimes antibiotics are necessary. Persons with frequent recurrence of styes may have to use preventive measures to avoid repeated episodes of infection.

A similar appearing condition of the eyelids is a chalazion. This is actually a more common problem than styes. A chalazion is an inflamed cyst deep within the eyelid, appearing as a red lump, usually pointing toward the inside of the eyelid. A chalazion is usually not infected, but rather is a reaction to oily secretions retained in one of the oil glands of the eyelid.

Often chalazia will resolve spontaneously, but occasionally they can be very large, painful, and cause the entire eyelid to be red and swollen. Warm compresses are helpful in reducing the inflammation and helping the cyst to drain, but sometimes injection of steroid drugs or surgical incision and drainage is necessary.

Styes and chalazia are generally harmless, but very bothersome. Hopefully you won't be troubled with these "lumps and bumps".

Communication is the key to low car repair bills

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP Staff Writer

It has been a problem for a long time. People who do not understand automobile mechanics must blindly trust the repairman.

It's kind of like going to the doctor. When the doctor tells you to take medicine he prescribes, not many question him. The same thing happens when cars are sick. Owners tend to accept the mechanic's diagnosis.

So it's a good thing consumers have organizations like the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence.

Researchers at the institute claim half of the problem consumers face when seeking car repairs is knowing how to communicate.

Knowing this, they have put together a list of ways to improve automotive service:

- Read the owner's manual. Follow the recommended service schedules and keep a log of all repairs.
- Inspect your car frequently, and check for unusual sounds, odors, drips, leaks, smoke, warning lights, gauge readings, changing acceleration, engine performance, gas mileage, fluid levels, worn tires, belts or hoses, problem handling, braking and steering.

• Always ask the service writer to call for authorization before any repairs are made, and always leave a phone number where you can be reached.

The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence is an organization that certifies technicians. Most service centers will post the ASE sign on the premises.
